Monumental Inscriptions, St Mary's Church, Stansted Mountfitchet, Essex

1: Acknowledgements and Definitions

This record was first published by the Stansted Mountfitchet Local History Society in February 1995. It was prepared using WordPerfect and Lotus 123 software which subsequently ceased to exist. In 2022, it was converted to Word and Excel software and a few minor typing errors were corrected.

During the original compilation of this record, reference has been made to the recording by Joseph Josiah Green in 1886 of inscriptions on the tombstones in the graveyard.

The later recording was begun in 1980 by John Manley, and was completed between 1990 and 1994 by a Stansted Mountfitchet Local History Society project team headed by Frances Spalding.

This record includes all monuments inside St Mary's Church and in the adjacent church cemetery and public cemetery. It does not incorporate inscriptions on the village war memorial or at other churches within the parish of Stansted Mountfitchet.

The following conventions have been used in the record of inscriptions:

- [] square brackets have been used to enclose editor's remarks, not to be found on the gravestone.
- [?] follows an assumed word.
- ... dots denote a section of inscription that is not readable. The number of dots is not indicative of the length of missing text.
- / is used to denote a division between passages of text, not necessarily a change of line in the inscription.
- IHS appears on some gravestones and is the abbreviated form of IESUS HOMINUM SALVATOR, Latin for Jesus Saviour of Mankind.

Latin text has been transcribed as it appears on memorials, which in some cases is in an abbreviated form.

The index includes reference to all names on monuments, not just the interred.

Each inscription has been given a location number for the purpose of identifying its approximate position on the plans of the cemetery.

Inscriptions within the church are numbered 5000 and above. Their location has been denoted by the following key:

- AL = Altar
- CF = Chancel floor
- CT = Church tower - outside
- GT = Gate from car park
- LC = Lancaster Chapel
- LF = Lancaster Chapel floor
- NC = North Chancel wall
- NV = Nave
- SC = South wall of chancel
- VW = Vestry wall - wooden boards
- WN = Window

2: St Mary's Church - a brief history

At the time of the Domesday survey a priest lived on Robert Gernon's estate at Stansted and probably served a church on the site of the present St Mary's. The building which stood in 1086 may well have been wooden.

It was rebuilt at least partly in stone some fifty years later, and the decoration of the chancel arch and the arches, tympana, and pillars of the north and south doorways survive from that 12th century building. It was probably paid for by William de Montfichet, who also built Stansted castle.

The Montfichets were the founders and benefactors of nearby Thremhall priory and they gave Stansted church, with its endowment, to the priory. Part of the endowment was paid to vicars who served the church from that time on, and from 1305 until the Reformation of the 16th century the priory was patron of St Mary's. The first vicar whose name is known was Robert of Bocking. He died in 1361 and is commemorated by a brass in the chancel floor.

In the late 13th century and early 14th, the church was enlarged by extending the chancel and adding on its north side the Lancaster chapel, so called from the family name of the then lords of the manor. The Lancaster chapel houses an effigy of a recumbent figure, probably Sir Roger de Lancaster who died in 1291, and also memorials to later lords of the manor.

The church underwent little structural change for 400 years until the 17th century. The appearance of the chancel, although not its structure, was much altered by the insertion of a monument to Sir Thomas Middleton, who bought Stansted manor in 1615. In 1692 the west tower was rebuilt in brick, a relatively unusual material for church building at that date, at the cost of Sir Stephen Langham, father-in-law of a later Middleton: the date and his generosity are recorded on a plaque on the outside of the tower.

More drastic changes followed in the 19th century; in 1829 almost £1,500 was spent, mainly on building a north aisle and extending a single roof over that and the nave. By the late 1870s, however, the church was once more in a bad state, and there followed a period of extensive restoration. In 1887-1888 the nave and aisle were taken down and rebuilt with an arcade between them, the Norman doorways were reset, and much of the building was re-roofed. The architect was F T Dollman, a pupil of Pugin.

Later additions were to the interior, where many of the furnishings date from the early 20th century.

The period of restoration in the 1880s also saw the building of a chapel of ease, St John's, in the village centre. When, in 1990, St Mary's passed into the care of the Churches Conservation Trust, St John's became the parish church and the main centre of worship in Stansted Mountfitchet.

3: Some facts, figures and analysis

The earliest memorials are inside the church, the oldest being in respect of Robert de Bokkyngg, who died in 1361. The inscription is shown under reference 5003 in this booklet.

The oldest memorial outside is on the east wall of the church (reference 1122) and is to William Cooper, who died in 1659.

The three oldest memorials in the cemetery are numbers 1396, 1409 and 1304, which record the short lives of Rebecca Barnard and her two brothers, who died in 1745, 1750 and 1752.

Three gravestones commemorate ladies who lived 100 years or more:

Ref 1971A: Alice Johnson, who died in 1989 aged 104

Ref 1765: Elizabeth Alice Hutley, who died in 1977 aged 100

Ref 1077: Harriet May Smith, who died in 1989 aged 100

No men are yet recorded as reaching this age.

This record was completed in 1993, covering 72 memorials inside the church and in excess of 1,200 readable memorials in the cemetery. Approximately 172 people are commemorated inside the church and 2,019 in the cemetery. This number includes several duplicated mentions, for example once on the church war memorial and again on an individual gravestone.

The amount of information given on each memorial varies considerably. Many of the memorials, particularly in the church, have incomplete dates. Of the 2,019 people commemorated in the cemetery, 1,909 are shown with the date of death, usually in full; 1,376 show the age at death; and 426 show the date of birth, albeit only 271 giving the full date of birth. Only 8 gravestones have the full set of numeric information: age and full dates of birth and death.

An analysis of the relatively limited detail available shows the following number of births each month:

24	January
11	February
18	March
23	April
26	May
38	June
30	July
31	August
23	September
28	October
21	November
21	December

Thus, June births are significantly higher than any other month. Amongst the detailed charts that follow, one shows that the month with least deaths is September. Is it coincidence that September would have been the month when the June babies were conceived?

The following pages analyse in some detail various elements of information that are available from the inscriptions. From these, it is possible to draw some conclusions regarding changes in the lives of Stansted's inhabitants over the last 3 centuries. However, such conclusions should always be drawn with care.

HE MADE HIMSELF WELL ACQUAINTED WITH COUNTRIES AND THEIR LANGUAGES, MERCHANDISE AND MANNERS: HE PERFORMED THE PRIVATE MYSTERIES OF HIS PROFESSION (THAT OF A MERCHANT) AS WELL AS THE PUBLIC BUSINESS OF THE KINGDOM UNDER THE AUSPICES OF LORD WALSINGHAM (TO WHOM HE WAS INTIMATELY KNOWN) WITH THE GREATEST INTEGRITY AND AN UNCOMMON PRUDENCE. AT LENGTH, HAVING RETURNED HOME, HE HAD THE GREATEST HONOURS OF THE CITY CONFERRED UPON HIM, THOSE OF SHERIFF AND LORD MAYOR OF LONDON. HAVING WITH THE GREATEST APPLAUSE DISCHARGED THESE HIGHEST OFFICES, HE EASILY CONTINUED, TO THE TIME OF HIS DEATH, CHIEF OF THE COURT OF ALDERMEN. NOR WAS THE MOST GLORIOUS ELIZABETH UNMINDFUL OF THE SERVICES HE HAD DONE HER AND THE STATE IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES; FOR SHE MADE HIM CHIEF OF HER COUNCIL. HE WAS A MAN OF THE GREATEST VIRTUE; DEVOUT TO HIS GOD, FAITHFUL TO HIS PRINCE, TRUE TO HIS COUNTRY, COURTEOUS TO HIS FRIENDS, RESPECTFUL TO ALL, THE STRICTEST DEFENDER OF WIDOWS AND ORPHANS. BUT WHAT A SUPPORT AND REFUGE TO HIS OWN RELATIONS: SOME HE ADVANCED TO HONOUR, ALL TO RICHES. HE ESPOUSED FOUR WIVES; BY THE FIRST OF WHOM HE HAD THOMAS, KNIGHT, A SON AND HEIR; BY THE SECOND TIMOTHY AND TWO DAUGHTERS, ESTER (DECEASED) WHO MARRIED SIR HENRY SALISBURY, KNIGHT AND BARONET, AND MARY WHO MARRIED SIR J. MAINARD, KNIGHT OF THE NOBLE ORDER OF THE BATH. AT LAST ALL HIS AFFAIRS HAVING BEEN CONTINUALLY CROWNED WITH THE DESIRED SUCCESS, HE PIOUSLY AND CALMLY RESIGNED HIS SOUL TO HEAVEN, HIS BODY TO THE GROUND, IN EARNEST EXPECTATION OF A BETTER LIFE THAN THIS. BUT HE LEFT, TO HIS FRIENDS, THE REMEMBRANCE OF HIMSELF; TO HIS FELLOW CITIZENS,
